Social Work Activism:

Social Work activism is a process of involving the application of social theory and research methods to study and improve the lives of people, groups, and societies. It incorporates and uses other social sciences as a means to improve the human condition and positively change society's response to chronic problems. It is a profession committed to the pursuit of social justice, to the enhancement of the quality of life, and to the development of the full potential of each individual, group and community in the society. It seeks to simultaneously address and resolve social issues at every level of society and economic status, but especially among the poor and sick. Social workers are concerned with social problems, their causes, their solutions and their human impacts. They work with individuals, families, groups.

In the developed countries, only professionally qualified persons with social work education can intervene with the license or be professionally registered. Unfortunately in India, in spite of the fact that the number of social work schools, institutes and department of colleges and universities have been growing slowly but steadily during the initial six decades and growing rapidly over the last one decade or so, the quality of professional social work education and training and professional standards of practice have been declining and as a result, there is a serious damage to the 'professional status and image' of social work. With innumerable departments of social work mushrooming each day, professional social work education is being commercialized and issues of quality, credibility and ethical standards are compromised by the different stakeholders.

Social Work provides an important service to society. Individuals and families in need of help clients live a productive life in their own community. In order to reach this goal, we often enlist the assistance of family members, relatives, local religious leaders, tribal leaders and elders, and other influential members of the community.

Social work is concerned with the provision of welfare serviced, when people's capacity for responding to the demands of life is strained, when capacity growth seems unattainable, and when important decisions elude growth-producing activities, and make effective decisions. Naturally when people have a problem, they look for help. Usually, they think they have no capacity to solve their problem unless someone helps them to do so. And evil solve their problems. Social workers must make the role of their work clear when they are approached by a client. Their role is to assist the client to know why they need help and where they can get it.

Social Work Activism:

Social Work activism is a process of involving the application of social theory and research methods to study and improve the lives of people, groups, and societies. It incorporates and uses other social sciences as a means to improve the human condition and positively change society's response to chronic problems. It is a profession committed to the pursuit of social justice, to the enhancement of the quality of life, and to the development of the full potential of each individual, group and community in the society. It seeks to simultaneously address and resolve social issues at every level of society and economic status, but especially among the poor and sick. Social workers are concerned with social problems, their causes, their solutions and their human impacts. They work with individuals, families, groups.

In the developed countries, only professionally qualified persons with social work education can intervene with the license or be professionally registered. Unfortunately in India, in spite of the fact that the number of social work schools, institutes and department of colleges and universities have been growing slowly but steadily during the initial six decades and growing rapidly over the last one decade or so, the quality of professional social work education and training and professional standards of practice have been declining and as a result, there is a serious damage to the 'professional status and image' of social work. With innumerable departments of social work mushrooming each day, professional social work education is being commercialized and issues of quality, credibility and ethical standards are compromised by the different stakeholders.

Social Work provides an important service to society. Individuals and families in need of help clients live a productive life in their own community. In order to reach this goal, we often enlist the assistance of family members, relatives, local religious leaders, tribal leaders and elders, and other influential members of the community.

Social work is concerned with the provision of welfare serviced, when people's capacity for responding to the demands of life is strained, when capacity growth seems unattainable, and when important decisions elude growth-producing activities, and make effective decisions. Naturally when people have a problem, they look for help. Usually, they think they have no capacity to solve their problem unless someone helps them to do so. And evil solve their problems. Social workers must make the role of their work clear when they are approached by a client. Their role is to assist the client to know why they need help and where they can get it.

Social Work Activism:

Social Work activism is a process of involving the application of social theory & research methods to study and improve the lives of people, groups & societies. It incorporates & uses other social sciences as a means to improve the human condition & positively change society's response to chronic problems. It is a profession committed to the pursuit of social justice to the enhancement of the quality of life, & to the development of the full potential of each individual, group and community in the society. It seeks to simultaneously address & resolve social issues at every level of society & economic status, but especially among the poor & sick. Social Workers are concerned with social problems, their causes, their solutions & their human impacts. They work with individuals, families, groups.

In the developed countries, only professionally qualified persons with social work education can intervene with the license or be professionally registered. Unfortunately in India, in spite of the fact that the number of social work schools, institutes and department of colleges & universities have been growing slowly but steadily during the initial six decades & growing rapidly over the last one decade or so, the quality of professional social work education & training & professional standards of practice have been declining and as a result, there is a serious damage to the 'professional status and image' of social work. With innumerable departments of social work mushrooming each day, professional social work education is being commercialized & issues of quality, credibility & ethical standards are compromised by the different stakeholders.

Social Work provides an important service to society. Individuals & families in need of help clients live a productive life in their own community. In order to reach this goal, we often enlist the assistance of family members, relatives, local religious leaders, tribal leaders & elders, and other influential members of the community.

Social work is concerned with the provision of welfare serviced, when people's capacity for responding to the demands of life is strained, when capacity growth seems unattainable, & when important decisions elude growth-producing activities, & make effective decisions. Naturally when people have a problem, they look for help. Usually, they think they have no capacity to solve their problem unless someone helps them to do so. And evil solve their problems. Social workers must make the role of their work clear when they are approached by a client. Their role is to assist the client to know why they need help and where they can get it.

It's a pleasure to place on record our appreciation to the alumni and placement team for releasing a alumni and placement brochure. A brochure of this nature is to connect between corporate and colleges. It showcases the academic preparedness of our students with the necessary attitude and aptitude. Our alumni continue to make us proud by their contribution to the organizations that have employed them from our campus. We are sure that batches of students who are ready for placement will live up to the expectations of the recruiters and make our existence meaningful. We wish the employers and our students the very best.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION & CAREER COUNSELING AND PLACEMENT CELL

As a team we are happy to present the Alumni & Placement Brochure of the year 2017-2022. Alumni & Placement cell is a unique collaborative unit of ACSW whose primary focus is to provide a platform for students in the job market to showcase their ability and get themselves placed. Our team plays an important role in bringing various organizations such as Corporate, NGOs and Development organizations inside the campus to recruit the bright minds of our country who are the products of ACSW.

The academic environment is unique in terms of its diversity among students, faculty and staff. Our two degree programmes Bachelors of Social Work and Masters of Social Work have been carefully developed keeping in view the social and environmental challenges of our country that require alternate, sustainable and innovative solutions in sync with the way of life of the people. The distinct pedagogy such as field practicum and immersions, discussions, debates, research frame and peer-learning pursued by the college is an invitation for a dialogue between the instructor and the students. Therefore our students are equipped to contribute in the process of social transformation. We thank the organizations who had recruited our students in the past.

We warmly welcome your organizations to our college campus to this academic year to interact with our highly motivated professional students with skills, temperament and diverse field experience. I am confident that our students will prove to be assets to your esteemed organizations and contribute to nation building. Feel free to contact the placement cell run by the placement team.

Thanking you,
Yours sincerely,
